PUBLISHED BY THE CLASS OF JUNE 1933 · READING SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL · READING, PA

FOREWORD

WE ARE ON THE THRESHOLD
OF A NEW PHASE OF OUR LIVES. BEHIND US WE HAVE
LEFT A TRAIL OF ACCOMP-LISHMENTS. LEST WE FOR-
GET, WE HAVE PUT THEM
DOWN IN PERMANENT FORM.
THROUGH THEM, MAY WE BE INSPIRED TO FURTHER
ACTIVITIES IN THE FUTURE.

IN MEMORIAM

IN DEEP SORROW, WE DEDICATE THIS PAGE TO THE MEMORY OF ONE WHO HAS PLAYED A LARGE PART IN OUR SCHOOL LIFE. THE READING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FEEL DEEPLY THE LOSS OF THEIR BELOVED SUPERINTENDENT, WHO WILL ALWAYS BE REMEMBERED FOR HER GRACIOUS SPIRIT, HER GUIDING INFLUENCE, AND HER VALUED SERVICE TO THE READING SCHOOLS.

MISS AMANDA E. STOUT

THE ALMA MATER SONG

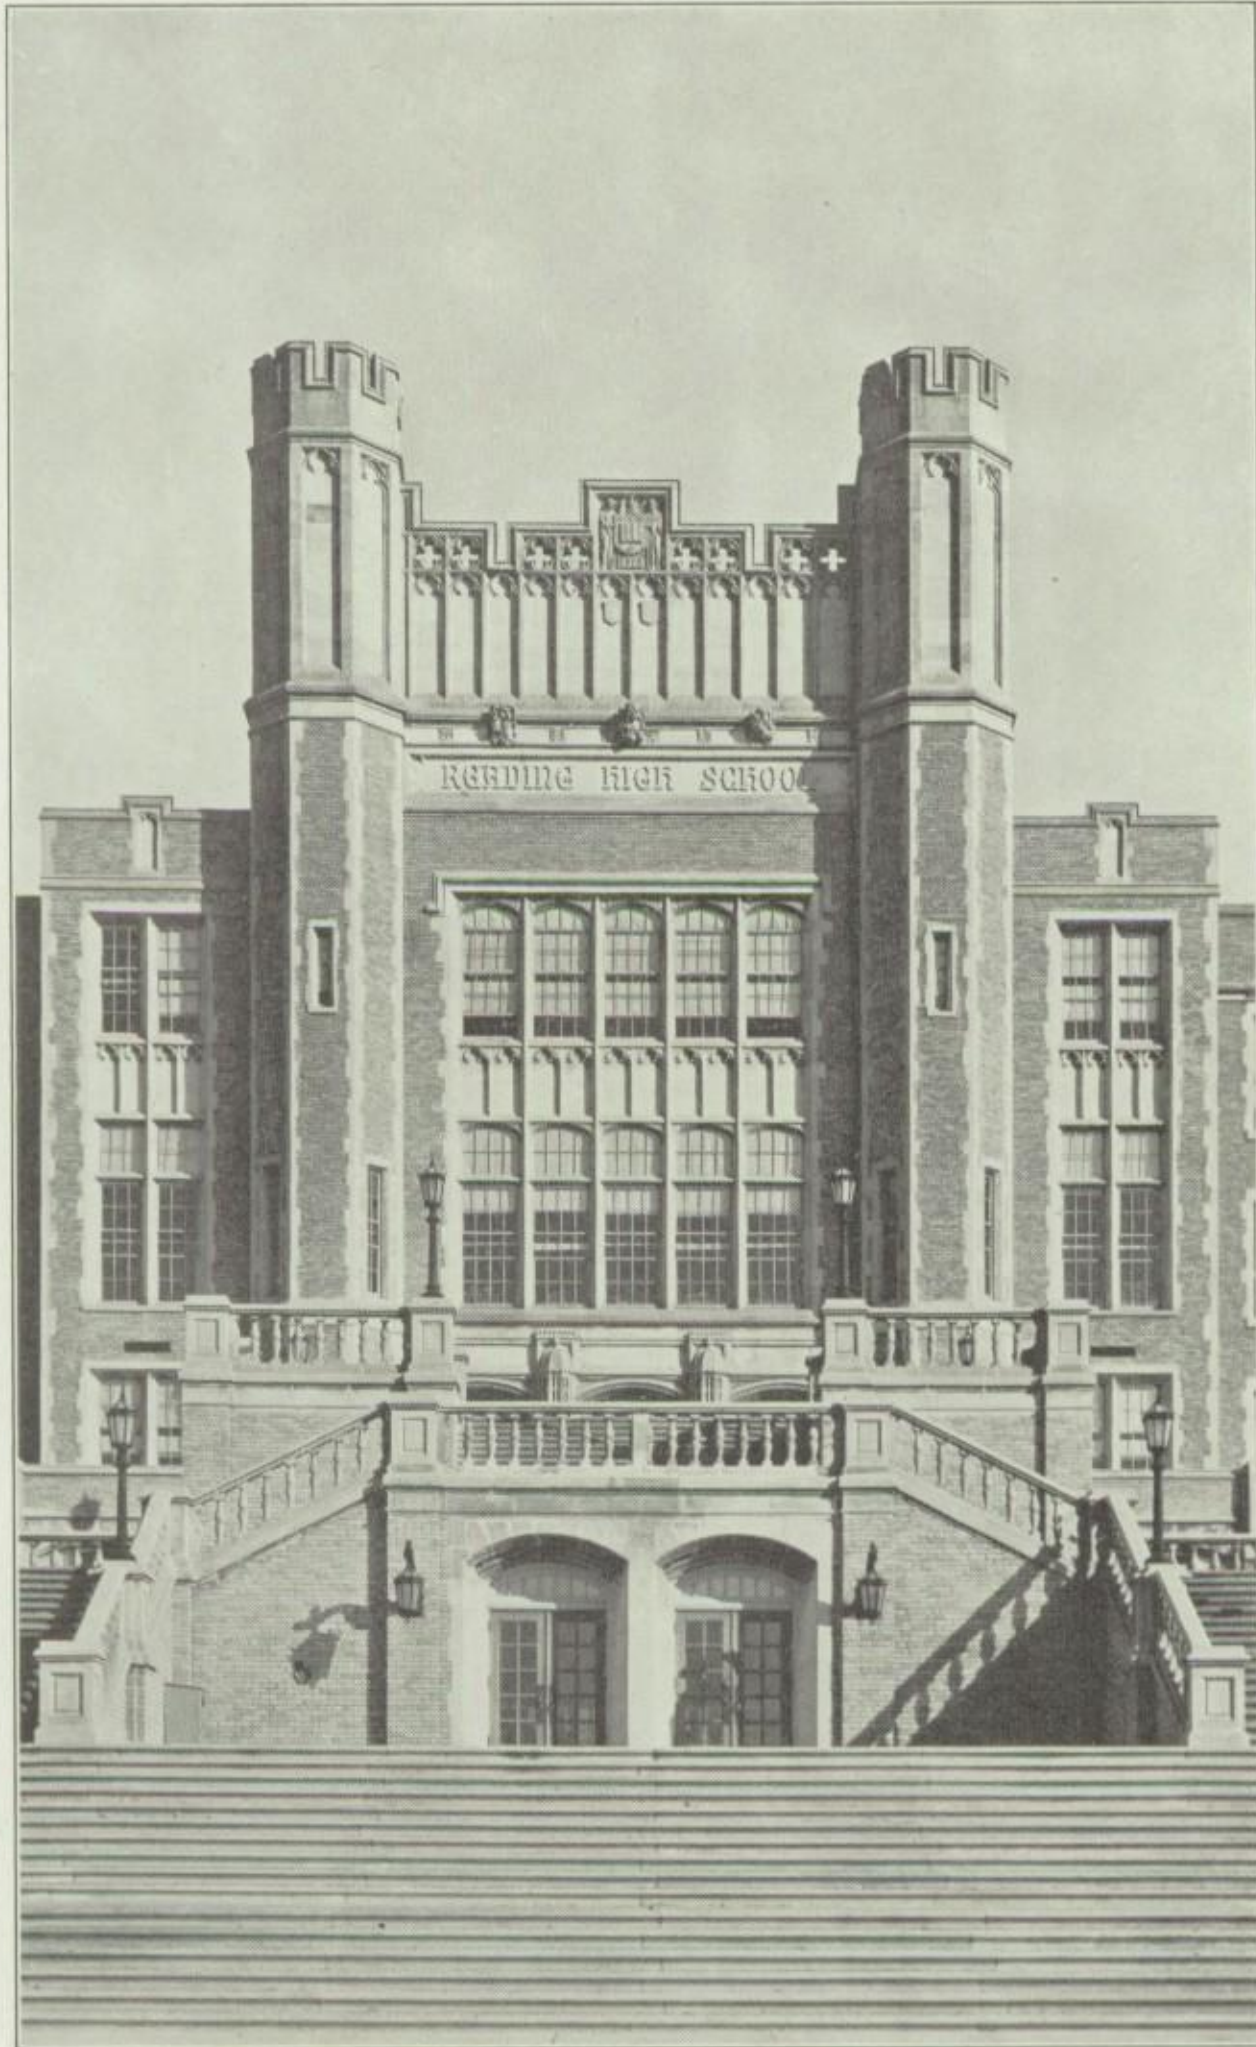

Foursquare her towers rise,
 Arx Alma Fair!
 Wide-spread her beauty lies,
 Arx Alma Rare!
 Sheltered beneath her walls
 She keeps her own
 Children of Liberty;
 We call her Home.

Ever her care shall be
 To keep us true,
 Upright, aspiring,
 With fervor due;
 Crowning our visions all
 Skyward doth gleam
 Our shining citadel
 Strong and serene.

All down the years to come,
 Reverent we'll be
 Turning our hearts and steps
 Homeward to thee;
 And though our westward ways
 May lead us far,
 We'll keep Arx Alma pure,
 Our guiding star.

IN RECOGNITION OF AND
WITH APPRECIATION FOR HIS WHOLE-HEARTED SUP-
PORT AND HIS SHINING
GUIDANCE, THROUGH WHICH WE, THE CLASS OF
1933 JUNE, HAVE BROUGHT
OUR THREE YEARS IN READING
HIGH TO A SUCCESSFUL
CLOSE, WE DEDICATE THIS,
OUR ARXALMA, TO OUR CLASS SPONSOR,
MR. IVAN E. NEWPHER

IVAN E. NEWPHER

IT IS WITH PRIDE THAT THE CLASS OF 1933 JUNE LOOKS BACK ON THE PRODUCTION OF «SEVENTEEN». IN LOOKING BACK, WE REMEMBER ONE WHO DID MUCH TO MAKE THE PLAY A SUCCESS. FOR THE SERVICES RENDERED, WE TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO EXPRESS OUR APPRECIATION TO THE ASSISTANT SPONSOR OF OUR CLASS,

MISS GRACE E. TROUT

FAVORITE EXPRESSIONS OF OUR FACULTY

- Mr. Lozo—Ladies and gentlemen, ——.
- Miss Deck—Now I don't want any personalities.
- Mr. Uibel—Has anyone seen my——?
- Mr. Fink—I have no use for Seniors who——.
- Miss Fetherolf—Now keep your composure.
- Mr. Bingaman—I think——would like to stay a half hour longer.
- Mr. de Francesco—Now don't try to kid me.
- Miss Kurtz—Go ahead and talk. You're only wasting your own time.
- Mr. Enoch—You know, it's positively disgusting.
- Miss Jamison—Now, children!
- Mr. Gish—What's the capital of Turkey?
- Mr. Fenstermacher—I don't know. What do you think?
- Miss Haller—We'll look that up for tomorrow.
- Mr. Gill—Get to work, boys.
- Miss Morrette—Caramba!
- Mr. Hunter—Now let me think.
- Miss Kahler—My soul!
- Mr. Kepler—Now let's cut down the talking to a minimum.
- Miss Pfau—For instance?
- Mr. Schultz—Place all diagrams well-labelled in a notebook.
- Miss Dick—Now wait until everybody is through talking.
- Mr. Mohn—Well . . . well . . . I guess I'll stop talking now.
- Miss Blett Smith—Now, in North Carolina——.
- Mr. Walton—Well, I don't know about that.
- Mrs. Shultis—Oh, is that so?
- Mr. Mood—Well, now let me see.
- Miss Hicks—Boy, oh boy.
- Mr. Quimby—Yes, sir. What can I do for you?
- Miss Moyer—Principal's office.
- Miss Holt—Well, you'll have to see Mr. Cassel about that.

The future stretches, clear and white,
What on its pages shall we write?
We do not know, we hope 'twill be
A joy and pride ever more to thee.
Our colors are crimson and silver,
Let them always float on high,
For strength and beauty to the world
They must ever signify.

Open thy doors, Castle on the Hill,
Let youth go forth to try its skill
We must depart, our duty calls,
We cannot linger in thy hall.
Into the world we now must go,
Our worth and courage there to show,
We try to serve, to do our best,
And in thy name our hope shall rest.

«SEVENTEEN»

ON the night of November 3, people crowded into the high school auditorium to pay tribute, once again, to the magic of Booth Tarkington's pen. "Seventeen," as presented by the dramatic talent of our class under the direction of Miss Trout, came as a distinct surprise to those who were unaware of the dramatic ability of our classmates. Charles Sheidy's portrayal of "Willie Baxter" was one of the outstanding features of a play that sparkled with brilliant acting. The part of poor Willie, who for the first time is undergoing the pangs of unrequited love, was shown so realistically that Willie had the greater part of the audience hoping and praying for his ultimate success. Mae Schlegel, in the role of "Lola Pratt," who is the cause of our hero's downfall, displayed remarkable dramatic skill.

Those people who came to the play to help the school relief fund were amply repaid by the splendid performance of these two artists who, aided by a fine supporting cast, made the evening one long to be remembered.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Luke S. Sweitzer, Pastor of The Lutheran Church of The Nativity, Reading, Pa.

"Covet earnestly the best gifts."—I Corinthians 12:31

My young friends: The happy events of commencement week mark the completion of one period of your education, and also the beginning of another period of training, either in higher institutions of learning or in the great school of life. Your training here has not been merely to fill your mind with facts and theories; but rather to fit you to be the pilot of your own life and destiny, to train you to think, to choose, to act, and to serve. You are going forth from this institution, and I dare say most of you do not know definitely where you are going or what life holds for you. You have plans for the future. You have ideals, hopes, and ambitions; but when and to what degree they will be realized remains for the pages of the closed book of the future to reveal. I submit to you the thought, that, wherever you are going, whatever you are going to do, in our text, is expressed a principle, which you will do well to apply no matter what your status in life will be. That principle is, "Always seek the best gifts that life has to offer." If that raises a question in your mind as to what some of those gifts are, then, to your question, the basis of my message becomes an answer, through its consideration of some of these gifts.

In the light of the occasion for which we are gathered, and in consideration of the place in which we are assembled, the first gift that would naturally suggest itself is the gift of a Cultured Mind. Probably the greatest thing that this fine institution has been able to do for you is to sow good seed in your mind, and through various principles give you some of the tools by which to cultivate that seed into fruitfulness. With you remains the task to continue to nurture that which has been sown, and to graft upon it, as it grows, other branches from the great tree of knowledge which humanity as a whole has nurtured and cultivated through the ages. The vastness of the sum total of human knowledge necessitates a selecting process, in order to fill your mind with the best and noblest things in literature, art, and music, in fact, in every sphere of mental activity, it is most important that you seek the best in order that you may cultivate the finest innate gifts with which God has endowed you. Nurture the good seed which the school has sown in the garden of your mind. Cultivate it so that it will bear fruit in a mental attitude and philosophy of life, which, on one hand, reflects enough appreciation for the best gifts in our heritage from the past, to give stability to your life when the reactionary winds of radicalism blow; and which, on the other hand, gives you enough freedom from traditionalism, and enough vision to become leaders in society in those things which are truly progressive and conducive to the betterment of society politically, socially, and spiritually.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Hand in hand with a trained mind, should go a clean heart. The Old Testament locates in the heart the center of personal being. To the Hebrew thinker, the heart was the indivisible unity which manifested itself in the whole of the outward life. The heart is the real inner man or inner woman. "Out of the heart are the issues of life." They stream forth into many directions, into many spheres of human activity and relationships; but the many issues have one fountain source. If a pool of water is muddy, the stream flowing from it will be muddy. If the pool is clear, the stream will be clean and sparkling; and, even though the stream may be contaminated along its course, it will cleanse itself because there is a steady inflow a fresh fountain source of supply. So in your life, your heart—your inner self, your inmost thoughts and desires—is the fountain source of the issues of your life. Your character is the crystal stream flowing from that inner source through the valley of human affairs in daily life; and, although that stream may unavoidably have contaminating contacts, if the source—the heart—is clean, your character stream will cleanse itself from all contamination and flow forth clearly and beautifully, an honor to yourself and to those who reared and trained you. In the light of these truths, it is self evident that you should earnestly covet the gift of a clean heart, by pure thoughts, clean speech, chaste conduct, and by cultivating friendships and seeking associations which are conducive to the fostering of a clean heart. Well may you pray with the Psalmist, "Create in me a clean heart O God, and renew a right spirit within me."

Another desirable gift is a serving spirit. Your home and society have served you for a number of years through the fine opportunities which they have provided for you. Therefore your home and community have a right to expect service from you in return for opportunity which they have made available to you.

If you are real young men and young women, with red blood in your veins, and moral fibre in your soul, you will not want to hug your educational benefits to yourself in a snobbish spirit; but, realizing that privilege means responsibility, you will see and use every opportunity to serve the home and community which has served you. You are going forth at a time when the progress of the age seems temporarily to have been halted, when the comfortable theories of man have been shipwrecked, and uncertainty and unsettled questions brood over us to toss us to and fro. If, therefore, because of these conditions, the type of a position, or the opportunity for higher education is not at once available, do not immediately sink into a slough of despair and indifference, feel that life holds nothing for you, and allow your gifts to tarnish.

Do not lose faith or hope, but keep coveting the best gifts of mind and heart. Serve in whatever degree you have the opportunity and keep training yourself mentally, physically, and spiritually for greater service. Then when conditions change and the opportunity for larger service and a richer life comes your way, you will be ready for it. Keep on seeking higher gifts.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Lastly, and most important, seek the gift of Divine Fellowship. Let me emphasize the fact that if you depend only upon your own wisdom you will not attain the most complete and satisfying gifts which God has made available for you. For the man or the woman who does not seek the fellowship of God is renouncing the greatest of all privileges, and making his or her life poor and barren in comparison with what it might have been. Well has the poet said:

Dark are the skies of the faithless,
Bitter their hours of grief;
Heavy the blow that is struck by woe
To the children of unbelief.
Having no God to turn to,
Having no Saviour to trust,
They are tossed about by the winds of doubt
As helpless as grains of dust.

The distracting and uncertain days in which we are living afford evidence on every hand of the insufficiency of the wisdom of man. As one meditates upon conditions as they are today, one cannot help but feel that the words of a certain writer, written shortly after the close of the Civil War, express the world's greatest need today even as the writer claims they did in his day. He says, "The supreme need of the hour is not merely elastic currency, or sounder banking, or better protection against panics, or bigger navies, or more equitable tariffs, but a revival of faith, a return to a morality which recognizes a basis in religion, and the establishment of a workable and working theory of life, that views man as something more than a lump of matter, but sees in him a spark of the Divine, a child of God, an immortal soul."

The Wisdom of the world must humble itself before the wisdom of God. Then confusion will be converted into order, lawlessness into obedience, discouragement into hope, misery into happiness, selfishness into love, anxiety into peace. Any individual who renounces divine fellowship not only shrivels his own life, but loses the fundamental requisite for true leadership in society, whether in the small sphere of the community, or in the larger sphere of the state. Human leadership without divine guidance is but a case of the blind leading the blind. So my young friends, as you go forth, seek, above all other gifts, the gift of divine fellowship. Do you desire to possess the gift of a truly cultured mind, the gift of a clean heart issuing in a beautiful character; would you use your God-given ability, whatever its nature or degree, for the greatest service to mankind; then walk with Him and talk with Him whose child you are. I say to you dare to be religious in the finest sense of that term. Let your religion be more than a name, more than a cloak, more than mere sentiment, more than formality. Let your religion be not only a creed, but an experience; not only a restraint, but an inspiration; not only an insurance for the next world, but a program for life here and now. Let your religion be a sincere, straightforward fellowship with God, your Maker and Redeemer, and you will not only seek, but you will find, the best gifts that life has to offer.

PAGEANT

THUNDER Mountain, the Commencement Pageant presented by the Class of 1933 June, was designed to depict the great ideals that characterized and molded the life of the American Indian, and to show the Indian's contribution to the life of our day. Thunder Mountain opens with an Indian's summoning, for the Calumet Ceremony, the four winds, representing the Four Cultures of the American Indian: the Woods Indian of the East; the Plains Indian of the Middle West; the Zuni and Hopi, tribes of the Southwest; and the Fishing or Totem Pole Indian of the Northwest.

On the heights of Thunder Mountain, appears a brave who delivers, in early morning, the appeal to the Great Spirit.

At the base of the mountain, now appear Indian maidens, who, as they work, chant the traditional Corn Song. Then ensues a terrific storm in which personifications of the Wind and Lightning try to interfere with the workers. Out of the tumult, however, emerges the Spirit of the Corn who blesses the toilers with a promise of an abundant harvest. The ceremony ends with the Corn Meal Blessing.

The scene now shifts to a pueblo of the Southwest where, on a Zuni house-top, we see weavers, bakers, and potters hard at work. The old medicine men minister to a child who has become seriously ill. A treacherous brave steals from the medicine bag a potent root, and is punished for the theft. The scene ends with the haunting strains of Tonka's "Lullaby."

In the next episode, is depicted life among the tribes of the Plains. An Indian boy, Waoka, is required to sacrifice his dog, Amaloki. The boy sings his vigil song; and, later, for his bravery and willingness to sacrifice and endure, he is given a significant reward.

In the Northwest episode, there is dramatized the tale that the Indians relate as a reason for the establishing of the Totem Pole. The little animals, guardians of the various families, indulge in their antics; and the episode closes with a vivid and spectacular Paddle Dance.

It is now evening: and, as the shadows of night envelop Thunder Mountain, a brave on the hill top recites "The End of the Trail" as his fellow tribesmen gather at the foot of the mountain to receive the benediction of the Great Spirit.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

WHEN we arrived here in the fall of 1930, like all "greenies," we had a great desire to run through the tunnel to the gym and see what happened there. At first, all we did was "see"; but finally, after gazing longingly through the door at our esteemed upper classmen, we got enough nerve to venture in, just in time to learn something about hockey. We formed a team, but of course you couldn't expect us little 10B's to win more than one game! That just wouldn't be fair.

These defeats in hockey didn't discourage us, and we formed a basketball team in due season. If our attempts at shooting were the basis for judgment, our conception of distance was terrible, for the ball barely reached the rim of the basket. We came through this season with a "clean slate," having no victories charged to our credit.

Still we didn't give up. We entered a "flock" of girls for track, but somehow we couldn't manage to "wing" our feet nor break the cord holding our arms when we wanted to throw the basketball. Another defeat to our eternal glory!

Our first year in Senior High had come and gone, and we decided to turn over a new leaf and surprise the others by showing what we could do. I think we surprised ourselves instead by again running along in the same old rut. Hockey, baseball, volley ball, and track—all the same old story with, maybe, a little more glory to our credit. In track we came up to the finals, but then dropped out. Even the 10B's and 10A's beat us! We see no reason for that because, when we were in their shoes, we were polite and did what was expected of us. You can't expect these novices to beat us who are already well along the road in high school!

The big event of this season was the swimming meet. We certainly had a grand time practicing although the practice did us little good. We had a wonderful stunt or at least we thought so. We were going to have a tea party and play cards while we were in the water. In practice, it worked fine, but in actual performance, oh my! One by one the balloons holding the table floated away and down went the table, cards, mints, and all. The pool was a sea of floating mints. We, forgetting our lovely afternoon attire, sadly dived after our sunken tea table. Our big stunt was all soaked and we—we were soaked, too.

Our last year tells the same story, but by this time we were out more for exercise than anything else. There was always a jinx hovering over our team. But we were good sports: We never said die. Even though we couldn't win, we always had a team showing that the spirit, if not the ability, was there.

THE ARXALMA ROLL OF HONOR

THE success of any yearbook depends upon the support given it by the students. The ARXALMA staff wishes to thank the students of those homerooms listed below who have given special support. The 12A homerooms are those that have subscribed 100%; the other homerooms, 50%. If the ARXALMA staffs of the future can depend upon such loyal support, they will be able to publish books that will indeed be a joy and pride in years to come.

STUDENT COUNCIL

STUDENT Council, sponsored by Mr. Cassel and Miss Hicks, has again completed a very successful year. The interest of the student body at large, as well as the enthusiasm of the members, has been quite evident. Student Council was served this term by the following officers: President, Lewis Bertsch; Vice-President, Ruth Adams; Secretary, Mary Kathryn Derr.

Several new projects have been undertaken by the Council. Among these is a Courtesy Campaign. Council has been making a war on discourtesy which results from thoughtlessness. Another project undertaken was the sending of committees to various high schools for the purpose of exchanging ideas on student government.

The Honor Study Halls undertaken last year by Council have been functioning successfully this semester. Suggestions for their improvement have been welcomed by the Council. They are a credit to the students who comprise them. It is hoped that they will become an important school organization in the future. The Information and Lost and Found Bureau established last year has been operating smoothly.

The various committees of Student Council have been working diligently. The Lateness Committee has reduced the lateness considerably with the present system of detention. This system allows each class a certain quota of latenesses for the week without detention. The Constitution Committee has been busy revising the Constitution and making additions to it. The Health Committee, working with the Health Council and the Faculty Health Committee, has co-operated with the cafeteria to give the students combination lunches at lower prices. It has helped in the supervision of locker cleaning and has gotten out several bulletins.

CLASS OF 1934 JANUARY

THE class of 1934 January has elected its officers for the last lap of its journey through Reading High School. The newly-elected officers are President, Chester Kreska; Vice-President, Helen Schaeffer; Secretary, Kenneth Clouse; Treasurer, James Borrell.

We look back on our past history with pride. In 10A, the class sponsored a tea. Members of the class have been outstanding in all forms of activities. We have made our contribution to athletics, scholarship, and service.

As our background is bright with achievements, so our prospects for the future are glowing with hope. We have received our insignia and our rings and pins. We hope that our future contributions to the school may even surpass those of the past.

We take this opportunity to express our appreciation to our sponsor, Miss Marietta Johnston, and to our homeroom teachers, all of whom have done so much to further our success and smooth the obstacles in our path.

The class of 1934 January congratulates the graduating class on its accomplishments and takes this opportunity to express the hope that its members will continue on their respective roads to success.

CLASS OF 1934 JUNE

THE class of June 1934 entered high school with a very large class, totaling five hundred and eighty students who were new to the surroundings of the "Castle On The Hill".

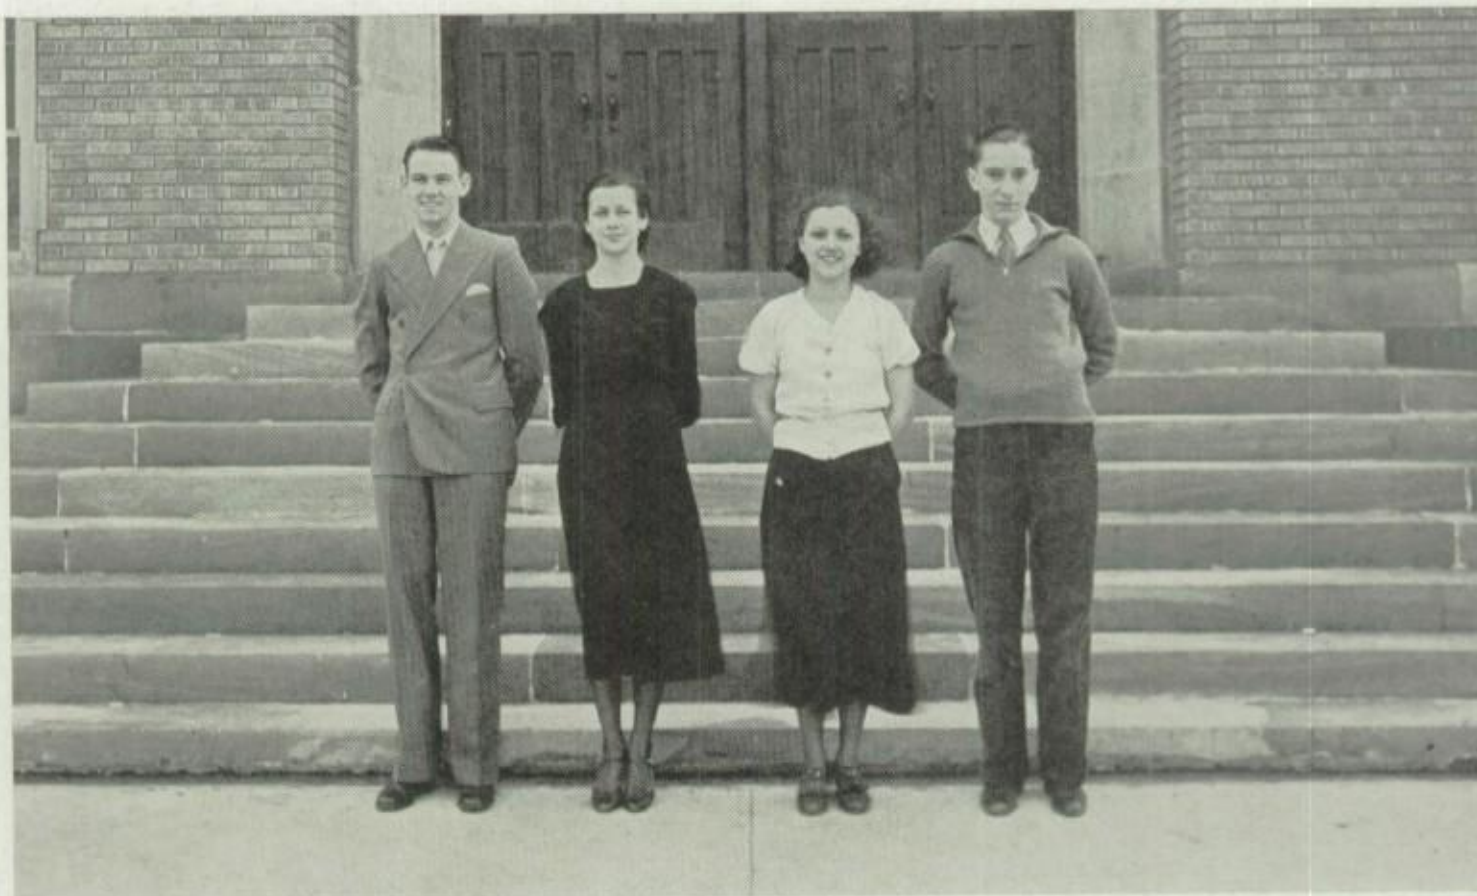

Within a few months, the class became familiar with the surroundings, customs, and procedures. A class meeting was soon called, and election of officers took place. Those elected by the class were: President, John Speicher; Vice-President, James Foreman; Secretary, Jeannette Shelly; and Treasurer, Russell Meck.

The class sponsored its first project in 10B by having a theatre party at the Astor Theatre for the benefit of the school relief fund. It was the only project sponsored by the class, but that one was a success.

In 11B, the class became active again. The new officers were President, John Speicher; Vice-President, James Foreman; Secretary, Allen Young; and Treasurer, Ellen Schlayback. One representative from each homeroom was appointed to compose the class executive committee. The committee discussed the matter of class colors and emblems. After much consideration, the committee, through the cooperation of the class, succeeded in selecting the class colors and insignia. The colors are black and white, and the emblem is of a very artistic design.

The class is represented very well in all our school's various activities and is trying to set an example which the lower classmen may follow with pride. The June 1934 class is striving to establish higher standards in scholarship and class ideals.

We take this opportunity to wish the graduating class a very happy and successful career; and to extend to our adviser, Miss Walt, and to all the 11A homeroom teachers our appreciation for the fine cooperation they have extended to us.

CLASS OF 1935 JANUARY

HANDICAPPED last term by the loss of the class president, Aloysius Dietz, the 11B class made the selection of new class officers its first project. The result of this election has given the following members an opportunity to serve their classmates and school in official capacities: President, Marvin Reider; Vice-President, Robert Moyer; Treasurer, Jeannette Lengel; and Secretary, Vivian Wanner.

The class must soon select its colors and decide upon the design to be used for its insignia. The preliminary selections will be made by an executive committee composed of the class officers and the presidents of the various home-rooms. Following this preliminary work, the final selection will depend upon the vote of the class.

Many members of the class have been extremely active in the field of athletic competition. Among these, have been participants in basketball, baseball, hockey, and soccer. As a reward for this activity, several members of the class have received the usual sports awards.

The class is looking forward to a very successful career. For competent and understanding guidance, we are greatly indebted to our sponsor, Mrs. Blakemore.

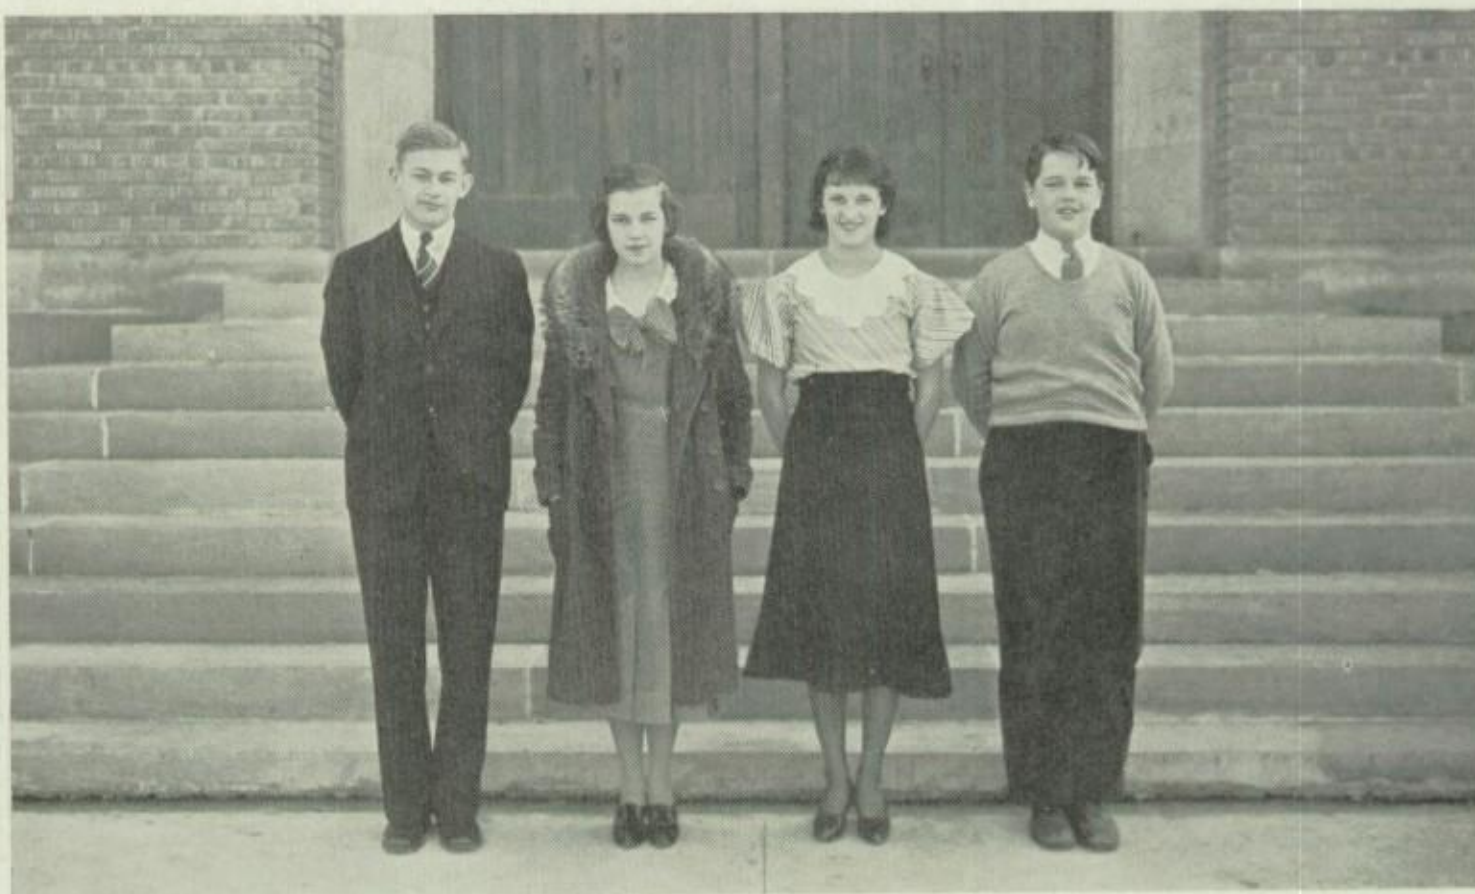

CLASS OF 1935 JUNE

WE, the 10A class of Reading Senior High School, have ended our second term with an enrollment of five hundred and fifty-five students. We are exceedingly sorry that we have lost one hundred of the total number who began their senior high school careers in September, 1932.

The affairs of our present five hundred and fifty-five 10A's have been in the hands of the same staff of officers who served us in 10B; namely, Harry Manderbach, President; Richard Kurtz, Vice-President; Russell Tibbetts, Secretary; and Doris Keller, Treasurer.

Because of our youth, we have not, as a class, achieved any outstanding successes. We feel, however, that our class does excel in musical talent. We have helped greatly in the Pageant Orchestra and in the Pageant Chorus; we furnished the choral music for the May Day fete; and members of our class have broadcast on the Tuesday morning school programs with great success.

Even though we have no outstanding successes to our credit, we are constantly striving, as a class, to improve scholarship; to create wholesome attitudes; and, in short, to make our class one of which our school may justly be proud.

CLASS OF 1936 JANUARY

THE class of 1936 January, with an enrollment of 470 boys and girls, is more than eager to show its loyalty to Reading High in every way possible. The members are active in sports, having had many members registered for after-school athletics such as volleyball, baseball, and basketball. Besides this large group out for athletics, we also have members in the orchestra and band, of which we all are very proud. We are well represented in Student Council, and the Health Council. Many of our members participated in extra-curricular clubs.

One thing of which the 10B's can boast is their early exemption from detention because their quota for tardiness was not exceeded.

The dance given in honor of the "Greenies" was very successful. Anyone who saw the boys and girls crowded on the floor of the gymnasium was certainly assured that the "Greenies" were taking interest in the social affairs of the school as well as in curricular activities.

BASEBALL

THE season opened on April the twenty-fourth when Shillington became the first victim of the "Red Raiders." As is the custom, the Alumni played the team early in the season, and age and experience mastered youth and enthusiasm. Following in rapid succession, we won a game and lost a game: the former, when we opposed Shillington; the latter, the result of an encounter with the Southwest A. C.

An interesting feature this season was the inclusion of class baseball in the varsity program. The class teams will offer an opportunity for those not on the varsity to gain experience and increase their value to the school. Formerly, class baseball was distinctly separate from the interscholastic sport; but this year, because of a curtailed varsity schedule, varsity members have been allowed to compete in the interclass program. Because the Eastern Scholastic League disbanded, the Red and Black did not have an opportunity to defend its 1931 and 1932 championships.

Headed by dynamic Captain Gresh, twelve members of the varsity squad will be lost for the next season.

The schedule for this year included most of our former opponents:

April 24	- - - - -	9	Shillington	- - - - -	3	Home
April 28	- - - - -	3	Alumni	- - - - -	8	Home
May 1	- - - - -	12	Shillington	- - - - -	4	Away
May 5	- - - - -	3	Allentown	- - - - -	4	Away

TRACK

In spite of the bad weather, which hindered practice, the mile relay team finished third at the Penn Relays. The team consisted of Harry Frantz, Joe Stratton, Samuel Washington, and Oliver Patterson; with Douglass Rudy and Oliver Hettinger as substitutes. The winning time was 3:31.6, with Reading finishing 4 seconds later. This was the fastest time for any High School relay mile run at the Penn Relays this year.

BASKET BALL

LOSING game after game by discouragingly small margins, the basketball team suffered the most disastrous campaign in the memory of the present high school generation. Mantz, the lanky center, was lost from the squad for a number of crucial games; and Krum, who starred in the first Steelton game, was lost for the greater part of the campaign. Coach Dietrich uncovered some valuable material in Schaffer, Guldin, and Dracha; while Assistant Coach Schweimler had the help of such stalwarts as Bottler, the Mendelsohns, Calabria, and Foreman in compiling a fine record with the reserves.

SWIMMING TEAM

THE swimming team got off to a poor start, losing their first meet to the strong Y. M. C. A. team, an aggregation consisting of former college and high school stars.

Under the able tutelage of coaches Jacobs and Davis, the team regained its spirit to capture the next meet from the Coatesville High School team. Success, however, could not be experienced without defeat; for, in the two following meets, Reading High School lost not only to Allentown High School, Pennsylvania State Champions, but also to the Girard College mermen.

For its fifth encounter, the team traveled to Bethlehem where they met and defeated the Lehigh University freshmen who are rated very highly in eastern swimming circles.

One can easily see that Reading High School had a fairly successful season, for most of the teams met were of excellent caliber. A better result may be expected next year, for only two men are lost by graduation.

The team was captained by "Tony" Walters, who was undefeated in the back stroke event until Watson, Lehigh "flash" and former Eastern Interscholastic Champion, nosed him out by inches.

Other stars include Clarence Buck, breast stroke; Ralph Schwartz, Southern Junior High diving "whiz"; Ben Focht, free style star; Joe Starr, backstroke; and Russel Meck, 100-yard free style artist.

Coaches—Emanuel Jacobs, Jack Davis.

Managers—Henry Beard, Robert Gerhart.

Assistant Manager—Russel Heckinger.

Captain—Anthony Walters.

GOLF

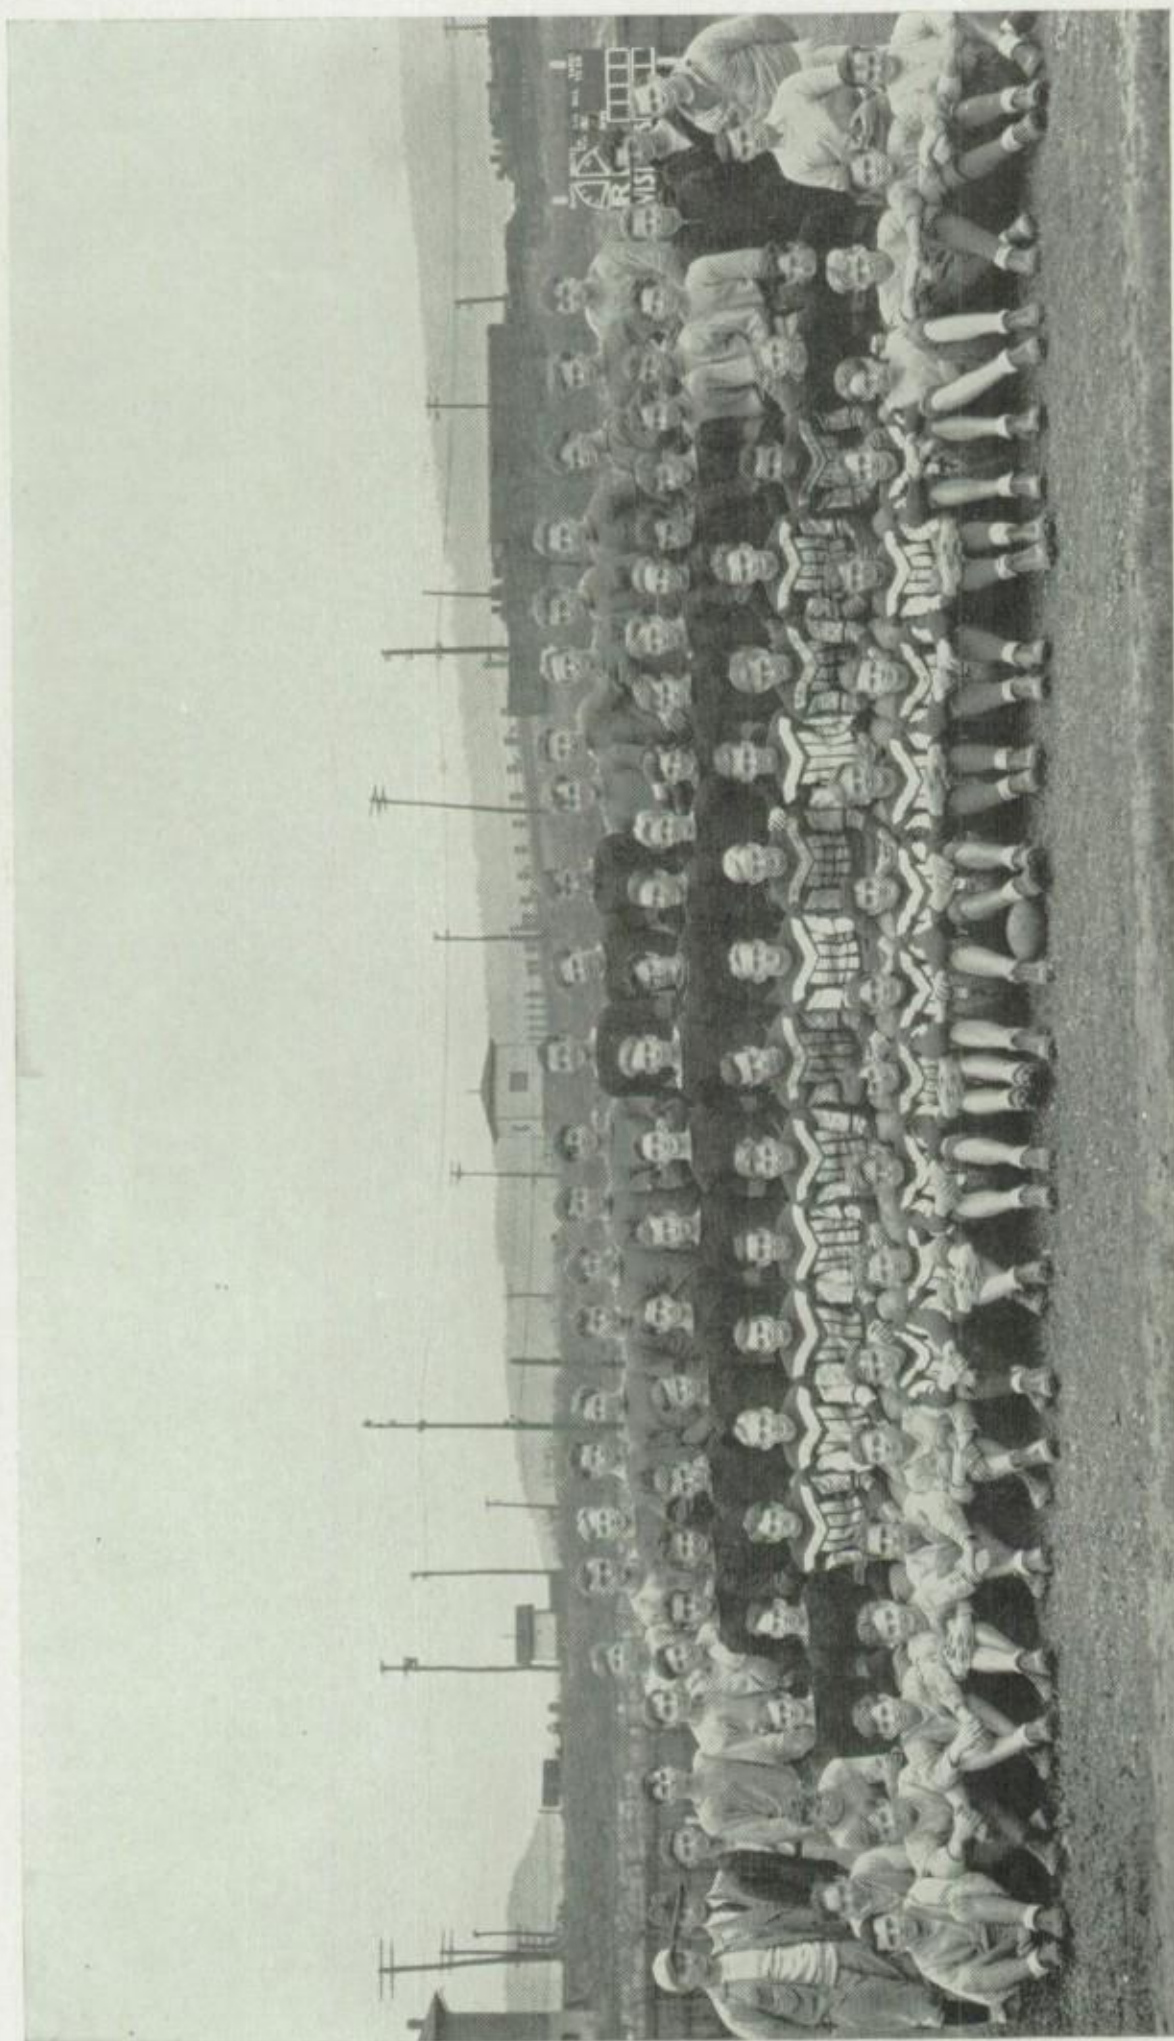

READING High has embarked upon another successful golfing season. The first match was played on April 29 at the Colonial Country Club, Harrisburg. Its rival in this match was the Lower Paxton Township High School golf team. The match ended with Reading High the victor by a score of $6\frac{1}{2}$ to $5\frac{1}{2}$. With this truly worthy accomplishment in its first match, we can expect Reading High to come through once again with flying colors.

Golf is a recent addition to the Reading High sports program and thus far the members of our school have displayed an unparalleled interest in it. With this interest increasing with the years, we can surely feel that golfing, the erstwhile "rich man's game," is now becoming a pastime suited even to the high school youth.

The match with Lower Paxton Township High School was brilliantly played, with Bernardo and Kachele securing the points which finally decided the victor. The Reading High scores were secured as follows: Chubb—1, Bernardo— $2\frac{1}{2}$, Kachele—3. With a team consisting of experienced golfers such as Bernardo, Kachele, Comfort, Lintz, Chubb, and Daniels, we await many more victories. The team is coached by Mr. Brucher, a member of our faculty and a talented and experienced golfer himself. He has announced the following schedule:

April 22	Practice	Reading Country Club
April 29	Lower Paxton	Colonial Country Club, Harrisburg
May 6	Lancaster	Lancaster
May 8	Abington	Abington
May 13	Susquehanna	Reading
May 27	Abington	Reading
June 3	Lancaster	Reading

Faculty Manager—Mr. Emanuel Jacobs.
Coach—Mr. A. Brucher, Jr.
Captain—Harry Comfort.

FOOTBALL

WITH the cries of the clamoring fans, the old pigskin took its first flight over the Reading gridiron for one of the most successful seasons in several years.

Not only should credit be given to the Varsity, which defeated such teams as Lebanon and Pottsville, two of Reading's "toughest" opponents (Lebanon has won two of the three conference games and this defeat was its first to Reading in five years), but also to the second varsity and scrub teams.

Splendid teamwork featured the play; however, it must be noted that the loss of Ertle, Bard, Rhoda, Janiszewski, Brogley, Wadsworth, Koch, Krebs, Lessig, Robitzer, Zimmerman, and Dreas will severely weaken the team. The first four of these were named on all-opponent teams last fall. In all fairness, it must be stated that through the coaching of Messrs. Helmbright, Bannon, Harris, and Hillegas much good material is ready to assume the responsibilities of the departing members of the squad.

An outstanding event at the close of the season was the awarding of the Kohl and Heist Trophy to Oliver Patterson for being the most valuable player on the team in the opinion of three impartial judges. This trophy will probably be awarded each year.

TENNIS

THE future of the tennis team looks bright this year with many of last year's stars returning to the court and a promising crop of new recruits reporting for tryouts. This combination should enable Reading Hi to make a fine showing this season. Mr. Wisler, who will as usual direct the destinies of the squad, has changed the policy which has been observed in former years.

It is possible that no No. 1 man will be chosen. Instead, a No. 1 man will be chosen at the beginning of each match because Mr. Wisler feels that at least eight players on the squad are equal in ability and that it would be too difficult to make a permanent choice.

Holdovers from last year's team and other candidates for the varsity are: Impink, Dietrich, Bloom, Liesman, Shuman, DiSalvo, Brok, Halteman, Reider, Snyder and Fehr. Other players striving for positions are: G. Gosch, Hohl, Brown, Gaul, Ganster, Zeswitz, Henry, Bewley and Rusin.

WHICH HOSPITAL, PLEASE!

Struck by the notice, "Iron Sinks", in a shop window, a wag went inside and said that he was perfectly aware of the fact that "iron sank".

Alive to the occasion, the smart shop-keeper retaliated:

"Yes, and time flies, but wine vaults, sulphur springs, jam rolls, grass slopes, music stands, Niagara Falls, moonlight walks, sheep sun, ale hops, and holiday trips, scandal spreads, standard weighs, India rubber tires, the organ stops, the World goes round, trade returns and—"

But the visitor had turned to leave. After collecting his thoughts, he returned and showing his head at the doorway, shouted, "Yes, I know, and marble busts".

ONLY CHAMPIONS NEED APPLY

The waiter brought Pat a live lobster, with one claw missing.

"Say, what's de matter with this fellow? His foot's on de bum."

"Well, sir, lobsters sometimes fight," apologized the waiter.

"All right, then, bring me the winner," shouted Pat. —"Phoenix Feud."

WE BELIEVE IT

It certainly does pay to co-operate. Just consider the banana—every time it leaves the bunch it gets skinned.

* * *

A UNIQUE WILL

A merchant was told he had a month to live—called in a lawyer and said:

"Fix it up so that my overdraft at the bank goes to my wife—she can explain it. My equity in my car goes to my son—he will then have to go to work to keep up the payments. Give my good-will to the supply-houses—they took some awful chances on me and are entitled to something. My equipment you can give to the junk man—he has had his eye on it for several years. I would like six of my creditors to be pall-bearers. They have carried me so long they might as well finish the job."

HUMOR

MORAL: EAT IN THE BASEMENT

"Eddie's kind off today, no?"

"Yeah; he took his girl to one of these de-luxe places, and she found a fly in the soup. 'Waiter,' she says, 'remove this insect.'"

"Well?"

"They threw Eddie down two flights of stone steps."

SAD MISTAKE

Disagreeable old gentleman: "And this, I suppose, is one of those hideous caricatures you call modern art?"

Art Dealer: "No, sir. That's just a mirror."

A DIFFERENCE IN ASHES

A caller asked his hostess why a beautiful urn in the living room was always covered up.

"Oh, it contains my husband's ashes", was the response.

"Oh," replied the guest, "but I had no idea you were a widow."

"I'm not. My husband is just too stingy to buy ash trays."

A Scotchman was leaving on a business trip, and he called back as he was leaving:

HUMOR

"Good-bye all, and dinna forget to tak' little Donal's glasses off when he isn't looking at anything."

* * *

GET HIS LICENSE NUMBER

V. Snyder: Oh, Dickie, I've been stung by a wasp.

Dickie: Quick, put some ammonia on it.

V. Snyder: I can't, it's gone.

* * *

WHOLESALE

"Does she get good looks from her mother?"

"No: her father."

"Is he handsome?"

"No, he's a druggist."

* * *

WHILE YOU REST

Mistress: You will clean out the furnace, take out the ashes, put on the storm sash, clean the cellar, tie up and cover those rose bushes, wash the car, and see that the drive-way is swept and—

New Servant: Excuse me, madam, but is this a day's work or a five year plan?

* * *

Judge: "You were arrested for stealing a couple of diamond rings. You say you are innocent. Can you afford to pay a lawyer to defend you?"

Prisoner: "I could give him one of the rings."

Wm. Hendricks: Paw, what's "discretion"?

Paw Hendricks: It's something, son, that comes to a person after he's too old for it to do him any good.

* * *

A Chicago man phoned to a theater and asked, "Can you reserve me a box for two?"

A puzzled answer came back from the other end of the line, "We don't have any boxes for two."

"Isn't this the theater?" he asked crossly.

"Why, no," responded the puzzled one, "you're talking to an undertaker."

* * *

Gerald Wills (anxious to do a good turn) "May I accompany you across the street, Madam?"

Old Lady: "Certainly you may, but I should think a boy as big as you are could take care of himself."

* * *

Uncle: "Engaged to four girls at once! How do you explain such shameless conduct?"

Nephew: "I don't know, unless Cupid shot me with a machine gun!"

* * *

Bob Bard: "Got any mail for me?"

Post Office Clerk: "What's your name?"

Bob Bard: "You'll find it on the envelope."

MILK

Visit the St. Lawrence Dairy at Ninth and Bingaman Streets, and see how the Electropure process safeguards St. Lawrence Milk.

It is easily possible to excel in studies or in athletic activities when you have HEALTH. Sparkling eyes, glowing cheeks, sound teeth, a strong body and an alert mind are just a few of the benefits of drinking milk REGULARLY.

The habit of drinking milk every day should not be discontinued when childhood ends. Its importance to youth cannot be over-estimated. The growing body needs the protection of milk—for building—for repairing. That's why it has been so aptly described as "Nature's most nearly perfect food."

Tests conducted among students the country over have always shown that the mild-drinking student is, mentally and physically, a superior type.

In addition to possessing all the natural advantages of milk, St. Lawrence MILK is ELECTROPURE, a process which represents the newest development of modern science, adopted to further raise its already high standards of quality—to bring to its thousands of patrons the finest milk obtainable.
